15. Please read the Chief Judge’s rule and the following scenario carefully. The scenario is not intended to be a realistic example of AFC decision-making.

Dad brings a petition for modification of custody, alleging that since the prior order, which granted physical custody to Mom and liberal access to Dad, Mom has failed to supervise their 15-year-old child adequately and does not pay sufficient attention to his educational needs. Your client is an intelligent, articulate young man. He used to get "all As" but now gets Cs and an occasional D. Based on your thorough investigation, you believe Mom is so involved with her social life that she leaves your client alone many evenings and pays insufficient attention to him at any time. Your client apparently spends his time on the internet and playing video games instead of doing his homework. This is fine with your client, who wants things to remain as they are. Based on these facts alone which AFC position listed below is most consistent with the Chief Judge's rule?

_____ Modification is not warranted.

_____ Modification is warranted.

_____ Modification is warranted, but my client wants to continue to live with his mother.

16. I affirm under penalties of perjury that the information contained in the application is true and correct.

17. While this application is pending, and if this application is accepted, I understand that I am under a continuing duty to advise the Office of Attorneys for Children promptly if circumstances occur that would change my answers to question 13.

Section 7.2 of the Rules of the Chief Judge

Section 7.2 Function of the attorney for the child.

(a) As used in this part, “attorney for the child” means a law guardian appointed by family court pursuant to section 249 of the Family Court Act, or by the supreme court or a surrogate’s court in a proceeding over which the family court might have exercised jurisdiction had such action or proceeding been commenced in family court or referred thereto.

(b) The attorney for the child is subject to the ethical requirements applicable to all lawyers, including but not limited to constraints on: ex parte communication; disclosure of client confidences and attorney work product; conflicts of interest; and becoming a witness in the litigation.

(c) In juvenile delinquency and person in need of supervision proceedings, where the child is the respondent, the attorney for the child must zealously defend the child.

(d) In other types of proceedings, where the child is the subject, the attorney for the child must zealously advocate the child’s position.

(1) In ascertaining the child’s position, the attorney for the child must consult with and advise the child to the extent and in a manner consistent with the child’s capacities, and have a thorough knowledge of the child’s circumstances.

(2) If the child is capable of knowing, voluntary and considered judgment, the attorney for the child should be directed by the wishes of the child, even if the attorney for the child believes that what the child wants is not in the child’s best interests. The attorney should explain fully the options available to the child, and may recommend to the child a course of action that in the attorney’s view would best promote the child’s interests.

(3) When the attorney for the child is convinced either that the child lacks the capacity for knowing, voluntary and considered judgment, or that following the child’s wishes is likely to result in a substantial risk of imminent, serious harm to the child, the attorney for the child would be justified in advocating a position that is contrary to the child’s wishes. In these circumstances, the attorney for the child must inform the court of the child’s articulated wishes if the child wants the attorney to do so, notwithstanding the attorney’s position.

(Effective October 17, 2007)

Summary of Responsibilities of the Attorney for the Child

While the activities of the attorney for the child will vary with the circumstances of each client and proceeding, in general those activities will include, but not be limited to, the following:

- (1) Commence representation of the child promptly upon being notified of the appointment;
- (2) Contact, interview and provide initial services to the child at the earliest practical opportunity, and prior to the first court appearance when feasible;
- (3) Consult with and advise the child regularly concerning the course of the proceeding, maintain contact with the child so as to be aware of and respond to the child's concerns and significant changes in the child's circumstances, and remain accessible to the child;
- (4) Conduct a full factual investigation and become familiar with all information and documents relevant to representation of the child. To that end, the lawyer for the child shall retain and consult with all experts necessary to assist in the representation of the child;
- (5) Evaluate the legal remedies and services available to the child and pursue appropriate strategies for achieving case objectives;
- (6) Appear at and participate actively in proceedings pertaining to the child;
- (7) Remain accessible to the child and other appropriate individuals and agencies to monitor implementation of the dispositional and permanency orders, and seek intervention of the court to assure compliance with those orders or otherwise protect the interests of the child, while those orders are in effect; and
- (8) Evaluate and pursue appellate remedies available to the child, including the expedited relief provided by statute, and participate actively in any appellate litigation pertaining to the child that is initiated by another party, unless the Appellate Division grants the application of the attorney for the child for appointment of a different attorney to represent that child on appeal.
