Short Introductions

ABBY ANDERSON

MS. ANDERSON became executive director of the Connecticut Juvenile Justice Alliance (CTJJA) in 2007 and immediately protected hard-won reforms, such as the Raise the Age bill, which removed thousands of teens from adult courts and facilities. She is a member of the Executive Implementation Team overseeing Connecticut's Joint Juvenile Justice Plan between the Judicial Branch and Department of Children and Families and is an official appointee to the legislatively mandated Juvenile Jurisdiction Policy and Operations Coordinating Council. She also co-chairs the state's Keep the Promise Children's Committee. Abby has served as co-chair of the Executive Committee of the National Juvenile Justice Network since 2007.

ERICA AYALA

ERICA AYALA is the Youth Leadership Development Associate at the Children's Defense Fund-New York office. Prior to her current role, Ayala worked as the Education Justice Consultant with the CDF-New York office, where she focused on the research, training and facilitation of restorative justice practices in New York City schools. In her role, she collaborated with school administrators, teachers, school safety officers, parents and other community organizations regarding restorative justice. She is in her eighth year of service to the Children's Defense Fund Freedom Schools®, where she has served as a Site Coordinator of the Grace CDF Freedom Schools® in Mount Vernon, New York, and Project Director of the Norfolk CDF Freedom Schools® in Norfolk, Virginia. She is also active in the CDF Young Advocate Leadership Training (YALT) program. Erica received a Bachelor's Degree from Elon University, where she studied Political Science with a minor in African-American Studies. While at Elon, Ayala studied abroad in South Africa and conducted a comparative study of anti-apartheid struggles of South Africa and the civil rights movement in the United States. Erica is currently pursuing her Master's of Public Administration at New York University Robert F. Wagner School of Public Service.

JOHN BAILIE is the Director of Continuing Education at the International Institute for Restorative Practices. John Bailie provides restorative practices training and consulting throughout North America and internationally. He has worked with the IIRP's SaferSanerSchools program to bring restorative practices to hundreds of schools, including those in at-risk areas of New York City, Philadelphia and Baltimore. John is a frequent presenter at international conferences and events and appears in several documentaries on restorative practices. His training and consulting work also includes that with juvenile probation and children and youth agencies, as well as churches and religious communities. Having completed graduate level work in theological studies John is well versed in the connection between restorative practices and faith. John is also an experienced restorative conference facilitator in adult and juvenile cases, including those involving felony-level offenses. John spent many years as a counselor for troubled and at-risk youth at a day treatment alternative school operating entirely according to restorative practices. He also helped organize nationwide and community campaigns for economic and social justice in support of the rights of the homeless and the working poor. He specialized in creating and mobilizing community networks and coalitions. John brings to his work a thorough knowledge of labor issues and challenges faced by marginalized communities. John received his master's degree as part of IIRP's first graduating class.

HON. JUDITH S. KAYE

JUDITH S. KAYE joined Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom as Of Counsel in February 2009. Before joining the firm, for 25 years, three months and 19 days, she served as Judge of New York State's high court, the Court of Appeals, 15 of those years as Chief Judge of the State of New York. She was the first woman named to that bench. Before her appointment, Judge Kaye was associated with Sullivan & Cromwell, IBM, and Olwine, Connelly, Chase, O'Donnell & Weyher, where she became that firm's first female partner. Her practice was essentially in the area of commercial litigation, supplemented by bar association and pro bono activities. She is a graduate of New York University School of Law (cum laude) and Barnard College.

Judge Kaye wrote notable decisions on a wide array of constitutional, statutory and common law issues. As Chief Judge she also left her mark on New York's courts as a creative reformer, centering on improvement in the jury system, the Commercial Division of the State Supreme Court, creation of streamlining procedures for permanency for children, and opening "problem-solving courts" to deal constructively with repeat offenders, offering services for drug treatment, mental health counseling and job training. She is the author of more than 200 publications, including articles on legal process, state constitutional law, women in law and professional ethics.

Her current Board service includes Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, the American Arbitration Association, the Museum of Jewish Heritage, The International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution ("CPR"), Volunteers of Legal Services and the Permanent Judicial Commission on Justice for Children. She also has received numerous awards recognizing her judicial and scholarly accomplishments, such as the New York State Bar Association's Gold Medal, the ABA Justice Center's John Marshal Award, the National Center for State Courts' William H. Renhquist Award for Judicial Excellence, the American Bar Association Commission on Women in the Profession's Margaret Brent Women Lawyers of Achievement Award, and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Adoption Excellence Award. Judge Kaye is the mother of three, and grandmother of seven (ranging in age from 5 to 20).

JAIME KOPPEL, M.P.A.

JAIME KOPPEL was recently appointed Atlantic Philanthropies Senior Fellow. In this new role, she is responsible for helping multiple stakeholders fulfill their shared goal of reducing the use of exclusionary school discipline. Jaime will focus especially on justice-related efforts. Previously, Jaime served as the Director of Youth & Education Justice at the Children's Defense Fund - New York. In this role, she supported the efforts of CDF-NY's Youth Justice team, focused on ensuring meaningful education and juvenile justice reforms. Prior to her work at CDF-NY, Jaime served as Chief of Staff for the Executive Deputy Commissioner of New York City's Administration for Children's Services. Jaime was also a New York City Education Pioneers Fellow. While living in Honduras from 2001 - 2003, Jaime founded Bilingual Education for Central America (BECA), a nonprofit organization committed to collaborating with local communities to provide community-run, BECA-staffed and resourced bilingual schools. Jaime has a MPA from Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA). At Columbia University she was awarded the Harvey Picker Prize for Public Service for her demonstrated commitment to serving others.

JOSHUA LAUB

JOSHUA LAUB is the Director of Youth Development at the Office of Safety and Youth Development for the New York City D.O.E. Laub was born in NYC and attended public schools in Los Angeles and Houston. He earned his Bachelor of Arts at Tufts and a Master of Arts in Teaching at Brown University (1993).

Joshua has served the public school children of New York City since 1994 when he began his teaching career at East Side Community High School. In 1999 he became a staff developer and assistant director at Banana Kelly High school in the South Bronx. He then served as Principal of Banana Kelly for ten years before taking on his current assignment with OSYD in 2011.

Most of Joshua's teaching experience has been in high-need communities. He acquired and practiced his skills working with young people who have not had the opportunity to develop behavioral controls. His greatest strength is in supporting students buffeted by repeated personal, family and/or social failures.

Laub's work focuses on troubled young people and helping them want to rejoin the community. He tries to bring along the adult members of the team needed to make such an effort succeed. For instance, winning over an otherwise capable teacher, who, struggling to make a class work, wants to punish an angry, disruptive child, instead of signing on to the more difficult job of forging a collective strategy to win that child over.

In Joshua's current position at OSYD, he has coordinated an inter-agency task force to support students and schools in turning students around. The goal is to reduce multiple suspensions and decrease arrests of our children, improving their chances of graduating high school. This project will encourage schools to rethink their current practices for young people in transition from a long-term suspension and/or absence. This effort includes training for the adults, supervising mentors for the young people, and connecting the entire team to a wider array of resources and services in the community, including tutoring, housing, health, and employment.

TIMOTHY F. LISANTE has worked within the New York City Public Schools system for the past 35 years. He has a Bachelor's degree and Master's degree in special education and is a long-time volunteer and former director of the Queens Special Olympics. Since 1988, Dr. Lisante he has been a leader in alternative education. He has served as a teacher, assistant principal, and principal at the schools on Rikers Island. He is the Jails Education Chairperson of the Correctional Education Association and is a member of the NYS Juvenile Justice Steering Committee, NYS Alternative Education Steering committee and the NYC Juvenile Justice Advisory Board.

Dr. Lisante is Superintendent of District 79 with oversight for 11 alternative programs including GED prep, Career & Technical Education, residential and youth justice education. Dr. Lisante has served as an adjunct lecturer at Hunter College and currently teaches graduate courses in special education at Brooklyn College.

STACEY OLIGER-PAYAMPS

STACEY OLIGER-PAYAMPS is the Deputy Director of External Relations, District 79, Alternative Schools and Programs, New York City Department of Education. Stacey has worked for District 79 for over 17 years. She has worked in many capacities at both the program and district level. Stacey began working at Rikers Island transitioning students back into the community and connecting them to education opportunities. She also served as the Parent Coordinator for the program on Rikers Island.

Stacey has worked in the district office since 2006, as the District Family Liaison, Deputy Director of Student Support, and the Deputy Director of External Relations. Currently she is focused on ensuring that information on District 79's programs and services is widely available and accessible to the broader NYC community.

CHRISTINE PAHIGIAN, M.P.A.

CHRISTINE PAHIGIAN has worked for over 30 years in criminal and juvenile justice, sentencing advocacy and the development of alternatives to incarceration at direct service, policy and government levels. Ms. Pahigian serves as Executive Director of Friends of Island Academy, a youth development center which breaks cycles of incarceration by building the capacity of young people to become contributing citizens. During her tenure at NCIA and later at CASES, Ms. Pahigian was instrumental in the creation of a number of innovative programs in New York City, including those for juvenile offenders, parole violators and defendants with mental illness. She served in the New York City Mayor's Office under Mayor David Dinkins on the Juvenile Detention Alternatives Initiative. Ms. Pahigian has written several training manuals for criminal and juvenile justice and mental health professionals. She has consulted and provided technical assistance nationally to Departments of Correction and criminal and juvenile justice agencies in New Mexico, Connecticut and Maryland around the use of positive youth development practices with justice-involved young people. Ms. Pahigian has taught as an Assistant Clinical Professor New York University and has provided training programs around New York State to justice system and youth practitioners. She holds a BA from Barnard College and an MPA from NYU's Wagner School.

ANDREW PALLOTTA

ANDREW PALLOTTA is the Executive Vice President of the New York State United Teachers. A grassroots leader and longtime educator, Andrew Pallotta was elected executive vice president in 2009 to help guide the union's massive political mobilization and legislative efforts.

An elementary school teacher for more than two decades, Pallotta was an elected leader of the UFT, NYSUT's affiliate in New York City, representing United Federation of Teachers members in the Bronx.

Pallotta's reputation as an advocate helped make him a troubleshooter in resolving union members' concerns, expediting services and advising members on their contract rights and responsibilities.

A product of New York City public schools, Pallotta has been a major voice for public schools and is committed to student achievement. In his work as a union representative in the Bronx, a district of 40,000 students and 57 union chapters, Pallotta helped resolve contractual, educational and community concerns, including working to oust an incumbent politician who failed to stand up for schools.

In his position at the statewide union, Pallotta leads the Legislative and Political Action activities of members across the state. He encourages more members to become engaged in the political process at every level, from community and local initiatives to state and national elections. With all politics being local, Pallotta strives to help members realize their political clout. Pallotta, who sees a strong connection between his faith, progressive politics and the goals of the American labor movement, is strengthening NYSUT coalitions with other organizations working for the greater good.

A graduate of the NYSUT Leadership Institute, Pallotta served as a delegate to NYSUT, American Federation of Teachers and UFT conventions. He is a vice president of the New York State AFL-CIO, a member of its executive council and a vice president of AFT and a member its executive council.

Pallotta and his wife, Martha, have two children, Andreana and Stephen.

She is currently a graduate student at New York University's Gallatin School, where she received a Koppelaar Scholarship to study education policy and child advocacy.

HON. P. DAVID SOARES

P. DAVID SOARES is currently serving his third term as Albany County District Attorney. Having handled thousands of cases in Albany County City Courts as an Assistant District Attorney, David witnessed the failings of the criminal justices system first hand. In 2004, David sought office to ensure Justice for Albany County residents and on January, 1 2005, David realized his goal of becoming Albany County District Attorney. Since taking office, David has continued to devote his energy to bringing "One Standard of Justice" to Albany County. He remains committed to leading an office that is Tough on Crime and Smart on Prevention by reducing street violence through creative, non-traditional means; building hope for the people of Albany County by restoring communities; dealing with the crisis of re-entry; and emphasizing prevention over prosecution. In partnership with local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies, David has been successful in both fighting crime and building hope in Albany County. David is a proud father and remains active in his community as a mentor by teaching "Legal Lives" in the Albany Public Schools and as a board member of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Albany.

LIZ SULLIVAN-YUKNIS is the Human Right to Education Program Director at the National Economic and Social Rights Initiative (NESRI) and is a member of the national Coordinating Committee of the Dignity in Schools Campaign. Ms. Sullivan works with parents, students and advocates to promote policy change in public education to guarantee students' right to dignity and a quality education. She has carried out research projects to document human rights violations in U.S. public schools, and has provided trainings to parents, youth and organizers about how to incorporate human rights standards and strategies into their advocacy. She has worked as a consultant with Human Rights Education Associates and as Project Coordinator at the Center for Economic and Social Rights. She holds a Masters degree in Public Policy from the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.

HON. STEVEN C. TESKE

JUDGE TESKE was appointed to the bench in 1999. He earned his Bachelors, Masters, and Juris Doctor degrees from Georgia State University. He was Chief Parole Officer in Atlanta, Deputy Director of Field Services for the Board of Pardons and Paroles, and Trial attorney in the law firm of Boswell & Teske LLP. He also served as Special Assistant Attorney General prosecuting child abuse and neglect cases and representing state employees and agencies in state and federal cases.

He is a member of the State Bar of Georgia admitted to practice before the Georgia Court of Appeals, Georgia Supreme Court, U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Georgia, 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and the U.S. Supreme Court.

He has written several articles on juvenile justice reform published in the Juvenile and Family Law Journal, Journal of Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Nursing, Juvenile Justice and Family Today, and the Georgia Bar Journal. His book, Reform Juvenile Justice Now, is a collection of essays on juvenile justice issues.

Teske has testified before Congress on detention reform and before several state legislatures on detention reform and zero tolerance policies. The Governor has appointed him to the Children and Youth Coordinating Council, Governor's Office for Children and Families, DJJ Judicial Advisory Council, Georgia Commission on Family Violence, and the Georgia Criminal Justice Reform Council. Teske is on the Board of the Coalition of Juvenile Justice. He has served on the Federal Advisory Committee for Juvenile Justice which advises the President and Congress on juvenile justice issues. The Governor recently appointed Judge Teske to the Criminal Justice Reform Council established by Executive Order to recommend reforms in the juvenile justice system.

He is a member of the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges and past president of the Georgia Council of Juvenile Court Judges.
